

A Pink Drink

Sipping a refreshing glass of pink lemonade is the perfect way to cool off when the temperature climbs. But have you ever wondered who invented the drink, and why it's tinted pink?

Most historians have traced pink lemonade to 19th-century traveling circuses, where traditional lemonade was already a popular refreshment.

Two stories of the origin of the pink version stand out. In one, Henry Allott, a teenager working at a circus concession stand, accidentally dropped red cinnamon-flavored candies into a batch of lemonade. He served the rosy-hued drink to his waiting customers, and it was a hit.

A second story claims circus worker Pete Conklin ran out of water while making lemonade. He grabbed a nearby tub of water that a performer had used to wash her pink tights, added it to his mixture, and sold it as "strawberry lemonade."

However the beverage came to be, it continues to be a popular thirst quencher. The pink lemonade sold today is usually tinted with fruit juices and extracts or red food dye.

Pretty in pink!

Pickin' and Grinnin'

For more than two decades, star-studded country music and cornball comedy combined to produce one of the most successful shows in television history. Just ask the fans of "Hee Haw," which premiered June 15, 1969.

The variety show's creators were inspired by the popularity of "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" and wanted to make a country version. Roy Clark and Buck Owens co-hosted the series, which took place in fictional Kornfield County. Along with music, the show featured old-fashioned rural comedy in recurring segments like "Pickin' and Grinnin'," "What's for Supper?" and "Lulu's Truck Stop."

Along with famous cast members such as Roy Acuff and Minnie Pearl, "Hee Haw" showcased a long list of high-profile guest performers, from country legends to artists in a variety of genres. Johnny Cash, Conway Twitty, Loretta Lynn, Dolly Parton, Jerry Lee Lewis and Sammy Davis Jr. are just a few of the singers who made appearances. Dozens of TV, film and sports stars — including Ed McMahon, Ethel Merman, Big Bird from "Sesame Street" and Mickey Mantle — also paid visits to Kornfield County.

Audiences made "Hee Haw" a top-rated show, but it was canceled after two seasons. However, it was quickly picked up for syndication, and new episodes aired until 1992.

Dear Residents, Families and Friends,

There is much to celebrate this month. After a lovely Mother's Day Tea, we will celebrate fathers with a special meal created by our Dining Director, Carl Holston. During our Mother's Day Tea, residents and their guests were treated to entertainment — as he sang, toes were tapping and hands were clapping. Special thanks to our Activity Directors Patty and Dawn for always making Lewisville Estates special!

We have many events planned this month and we look forward to your participation! On June 13, we will have Donuts with Dad, and on June 6, we will have our Flaming Luau party (Main Event), so make sure to plan ahead!

We are still seeking good neighbors to live at Lewisville Estates. If you have friends, neighbors or family members who are interested in senior living, please have them contact Lauren or Cindy. Remember, you will receive a $500 check if they move here (90 days after their move-in date). Check out our Facebook and website for weekly picture updates. Thanks for spreading the word.

Happy June,

Erin Montgomery
