

A Classic Detective Game

“Colonel Mustard, in the library, with a candlestick.” That’s a deduction you’d likely hear while playing the murder mystery board game Clue, in which players use their sleuthing skills to solve a whodunit.

Eliminating possible suspects, crime scenes and weapons has been popular entertainment since the game debuted in 1949. Inspired by murder mystery parlor games he’d seen played and the detective novels he enjoyed, Englishman Anthony Pratt and his wife, Elva, created a board game that used elements from both. The couple passed the time during World War II air raid blackouts designing and playing it.

Clue is set during a dinner party at Tudor Mansion, where host Mr. Boddy is found dead. Using the process of elimination, players try to figure out which of Boddy’s six guests committed the crime, where and how. The mansion’s nine rooms, six suspects and six weapons add up to over 300 possible crime scene combinations, so every game is different, making it fun to play again and again.

Clue remains one of the top 10 bestselling games. Its enduring popularity over the decades earned it the honor of being inducted into the National Toy Hall of Fame in 2017.

Employee of the Month!

Building a Book Club

Book clubs can add an element of fun to reading. Whether you are in a group, want to start one, or are looking for ways to enhance your solo experience, consider these pointers:

Most book clubs meet once a month, in person or virtually, to talk about their recent pick. Adjust the schedule to what works for the group. Allow for enough time for folks to get their reading done by choosing books that are about 300 pages.

Deciding on a book can be a challenge. One solution is to let members make selections until each has had a chance to choose a title. Mix up genres; reading different types of stories expands your knowledge and enhances brain function.

When it’s time to meet, serve refreshments—bonus points if they tie in to the book! Use the first few minutes for socializing, then dive in to the discussion. The person who picked the book may want to lead, but allow time for everyone to share their thoughts. If you need ideas to get the conversation going, many books come with book club questions and guides.

If you’re reading on your own, you may find it meaningful to reflect on a book’s discussion questions and journal your answers. You can also track your reading in a journal or a mobile app that lets you post a rating and a review of the book. Finally, make your reading time special by sipping a favorite beverage and enjoying a snack.

OCTOBER 2021

Dear Residents, Families and Friends

I am so excited to be welcoming in fall and cooler temperatures! It’s my favorite time of the year; baseball playoffs, football season, all things pumpkin and apple spice, and of course Halloween! We had an amazing month in September. Lewisville Estates was voted number one in Denton County for Best Independent Living Community. Thank You to everyone who helped make this the amazing place it is!

I hope everyone enjoyed the Denim and Diamonds party and Assisted Living Week. We were also excited to welcome our new Dining Director, Shanika Brown. You can call her “Queen” or “Queenie.” She is a recent transplant from North Carolina. She has been in the dining service for six years. She loves to prepare Italian dishes. She is a huge Pittsburgh Steelers fan, but I promised we would not hold that against her. Please stop by and introduce yourselves to her; she is very excited to join our family. In October, we have many fall festivities, including Halloween Door Contest, Cocktails & Costumes and more.

Happy October!

Jennifer True
